

ABOUT

RESOURCES

GLUTEN-FREE RECIPES

WELLNESS

NATURAL REMEDIES

DIY TUTORIALS

ESSENTIAL OILS

Homemade Toilet Bomb Fizzies – Clean and Deodorize Toilets

BY TRACEY BLACK

8 COMMENTS

FREE ESSENTIAL OILS E-COURSE
+ DIY BEAUTY HACKS E-BOOK

This post may contain affiliate links.

Toilet bombs... This whole post is really funny for me to write because the bathrooms in a home with three boys?! Yeah, let's just say I know all about bombs in the toilet, pee on the floor, that funky odor that smells like a train station urinal, the shreds of toilet paper on the floor. Yep, I know ALL about toilet bombs.

I've seriously thought about tell the boys to just pee outside on a tree, but I have a feeling the neighbors won't like that. But I've been desperate. When you live with that gross urine smell in your bathroom, you'll do anything to get rid of it.

Well, thankfully I found it with these Homemade Toilet Bombs. It's made with baking soda (helps to gently clean and whiten), hydrogen peroxide (helps to naturally sanitize), citric acid (helps to get rid of dirt/grime and helps with hard water spots), and essential oils for a naturally clean scent.

 Try G Suite free for 14 days and schedule meetings easier.  GET STARTED

My Bathroom Cleaning Routine

First, spray down the toilet and the tile around the toilet (even the walls and cabinets) with Thieves Household Cleaner. I then clean the toilet lid, seat, and pretty much every area except in the toilet bowl itself. Thieves Household Cleaner gently cleans and can get rid of the smell without harsh chemicals.

Then, use these Homemade Toilet Bombs in the bowl itself. It will replace those toxic toilet bowl cleaners and clean just as well (if not better).

Finally, I spray down the toilet and the bathroom with this DIY Air Freshener. Purification essential oil blend is one of my favorites in this air freshener recipe, as well as Lemon and Lavender essential oils mixed together.

Okay, are you ready to get that funky odor out of your bathroom? Here's how you can make these Homemade Toilet Bombs.

Homemade Toilet Bomb Fizzies

Ingredients

- 2 cups baking soda
- 1/2 cup citric acid

- 15 drops essential oils (where to buy), such as Thieves, Purification, Tea Tree, Lemongrass or Peppermint (I really love 10 drops Lemongrass + 5 drops Peppermint together or if you're going for simple try 15 drops of Purification)
- Silicone mold or sheet pan and parchment paper

Instructions

1. In a large bowl, mix baking soda and citric acid ingredients together well.
2. Very slowly (a few drops at a time) add hydrogen peroxide to baking soda/citric acid mixture. Mix well as you continue to add hydrogen peroxide. You may notice some fizzing – just keep stirring. (Note: Don't dump the hydrogen peroxide all at once as it will activate the baking soda and citric acid. It's important to stir it in very slowly.)
3. Slowly add essential oils to mixture and keep mixing well as you add the essential oils.
4. Test mixture. You should be able to clump it together to mold. It shouldn't be too wet or too dry. If it's too dry, add a couple of drops of hydrogen peroxide.
5. Fill a silicone mold with mixture OR form small balls (about the size of Brussel sprouts) with your hands and place on a sheet pan lined with parchment paper (to avoid sticking).
6. Allow molds to air dry – about 6-8 hours. Then transfer to a glass jar and store in the bathroom.

WANT TO GET STARTED WITH ESSENTIAL OILS?
GET 50% OFF + FREE DIFFUSER + FREE GOODIE BAG

How to Use

These Homemade Toilet Bomb Fizzies are really easy to use. Simply take 1-2 toilet bombs and drop it directly into the toilet. The toilet bombs will fizz as the baking soda and citric acid react together in the water. Use a toilet brush to gently scrub all surfaces inside the toilet.

HOMEMADE TOILET BOMBS

1K

680

DON'T MESS
- with -
Mama

FREE E-BOOK

Get a copy of my e-book 10 Beauty Hacks from Your Kitchen + my essential oils email course for FREE!

In my email course, you'll learn the basics of essential oils, how to use them, and easy DIY recipes you can make to save money!

First Name

Email Address

SEND FREE E-BOOK

We'll never send you spam. Unsubscribe at any time.

Powered by ConvertKit

Don't Mess with Mama is a participant in the Amazon Services LLC Associates Program, an affiliate advertising program designed to provide a means for us to earn fees by linking to Amazon.com and affiliated sites.

« DIY Reed Diffuser Tutorial

DIY All-Natural Vapor Rub »

 1K

 680

 2K
SHARE

Related

DIY Disinfectant Spray
(Homemade Lysol)
May 19, 2017
In "DIY and Tutorials"

DIY Reed Diffuser Tutorial
February 27, 2017
In "DIY and Tutorials"

DIY Poo Pourri: After You Poo
Spray
February 27, 2017
In "DIY and Tutorials"

Filed Under: DIY and Tutorials, Essential Oils, Home Remedies, Natural Home, Uncategorized

Tagged With: DIY, essential oils, health, home and garden, homemade, natural remedies, tutorial

About Tracey Black

Hey there! I'm Tracey Black, author and wellness educator here at DontMesswithMama.com. I'm going to show you how to makeover your home with easy DIY beauty and cleaning tutorials that are life-changing! I'll also share my favorite natural remedies and real food recipes. And I promise, no complicated instructions or a laundry list of ingredients. This is all about living simply. Join me to the first step toward a more natural lifestyle made simple.

Comments

Tiffany says

December 22, 2017 at 9:14 am

Great idea! I have those exact same molds, too. About how long will they last, do you think?

Reply

December 25, 2017 at 11:20 am

They can last for months. I still have some that I made 3 months ago as I made a huge batch.

Reply

Therese Grant says

October 16, 2017 at 3:11 am

Hey Tracey,

I found it helpful to add half a teaspoon Vinegar to the mixture. This helped solve the problem of crumbling. Also after trying several different Oils, Lemongrass has been by far my favorite. Lovely smell 😊

Reply

Becca says

September 13, 2017 at 5:32 pm

I used the smallest (about 1 tsp) scooper and they practically tripled in size before I finished scooping! Clearly something went wrong on this end. I loved the smell though.

Reply

Tammy Barney says

May 5, 2017 at 8:04 am

Reply

Tracey Black says

May 6, 2017 at 3:42 pm

Yes, I do. Here's the recipe: <https://dontmesswithmama.com/homemade-bath-bombs/>

Reply

Nancy says

February 1, 2017 at 2:45 am

Do you know if these are safe for septic tanks?

Thanks

Reply

Tracey Black says

February 9, 2017 at 8:47 pm

The ingredients do dissolve and are non-toxic, so you should be fine. If you're unsure, look it up with the septic tank manufacturer.

Reply

Leave a Reply

Your email address will not be published. Required fields are marked *

Name *

Email *

Website

POST COMMENT

Sign me up for the newsletter

Copyright © 2011–2018. All rights reserved.

Don't Mess with Mama® are trademarks/service marks of Mama's Essentials, LLC. All content on Don't Mess with Mama is copyrighted, and may not be reprinted in full form without my written consent.

Photo credits: Depositphotos.com and Bigstockphoto.com.

Got a question? Contact me

Disclaimer: The information on Don't Mess with Mama is for educational and informational purposes only, and is not intended as medical advice. I am not a medical professional and the information contained on this blog should not be used to diagnose, treat or prevent any disease or health illness. Consult with a qualified health care professional before acting on any information presented here.

The statements on Don't Mess with Mama have not been evaluated by the FDA (US Food & Drug Administration). Disclosure and disclaimer.

Search the site ...

Don't Mess with Mama is a participant in the Amazon Services LLC Associates Program, an affiliate advertising program designed to provide a means for us to earn fees by linking to Amazon.com and affiliated sites.

Privacy Policy

Terms of Service

AN ELITE CAFEMOM FAMILY & PARENTING PUBLISHER